Bridgeview Police, Pinion warning residents about scams

Trustee Norma Pinion reports that the Bridgeview Police Department has issued a phone scam alert to all residents.

The scam begins with a phone call from someone pretending to be or to know one of your loved ones.

Trustee Pinion

The caller says your loved one is in some kind of trouble and needs you to wire money to him or her. They give you fictitious information and will even have another person call you pretending to be an attorney or official.

Bridgeview Police remind residents to NOT wire money to anyone. Once money is wired, it cannot be recovered. Do NOT give callers any information.

You should hang up and call your loved one personally or contact another family member and tell them about the phone call. Report the incident to the Bridgeview Police Department to make them aware of the call.

Another scam that's becoming popular with con artists is coming to your home and asking to inspect your property or show you something on your property or your neighbor's property. When you follow them, accomplices enter your home, rummage through your personal items and take your valuables.

Bridgeview Police remind residents NOT to let strangers into your home. Call the Bridgeview Police Department if a stranger comes to your door asking to enter or for you to come out.

If the village needs to do an inspection or replace a water meter, a village representative will call to make an appointment. They will arrive with their village identification and in uniform.

When in doubt, please call the Bridgeview Police Department.
